

ABSTRACT:

A ring resonator comprises a ring waveguide (12) of a first relative refractive index difference having a narrow part (12a), and an optical waveguide (14) of a second relative refractive index difference smaller than the first relative refractive index difference. The optical waveguide is disposed adjacent to the narrow part to optically couple with the narrow part.